Society Meetings

The Ulster Society of Rugby Football Referees (USRFR) is proud to bring together referees of all levels—including trial members—as well as Evaluators, Coaches, and Mentors from across the province. Our meetings are a cornerstone of referee development, helping everyone stay connected with the latest guidance from World Rugby, the IRFU, and USRFR.

Just as importantly, they provide a welcoming space for support, discussion, and the sharing of experiences—whether it's about trends in the game here in Ulster or insights from further afield. Anyone with an interest in refereeing is warmly encouraged to come along.

Our season of meetings begins each August with the Annual Conference and runs through until March. Typically, area meetings take place once a month and are relaxed, social occasions—a chance to catch up informally outside of training or development sessions. Full society meetings are held at key points during the year and complement both area gatherings and training workshops.

You'll find details of specific meetings below. For anything further, please don't hesitate to reach out to your area convener, who will be happy to help.
